   (with course wise learning objective, learning outcomes, reading list, teaching-learning process and assessment methods)
The objective of any programme at Higher Education Institute is to prepare their students for the society at large. The University of Delhi envisions all its programmes in the best interest of their students and in this endeavour it offers a new vision to all its Under-Graduate courses. It imbibes a Learning Outcome-based Curriculum Framework (LOCF) for all its Under Graduate programmes. The LOCF approach is envisioned to provide a focused, outcome-based syllabus at the undergraduate level with an agenda to structure the teaching-learning experiences in a more student-centric manner. The LOCF approach has been adopted to strengthen students’ experiences as they engage themselves in the programme of their choice. The Under-Graduate Programmes will prepare the students for both, academia and employability.

Each programme vividly elaborates its nature and promises the outcomes that are to be accomplished by studying the courses. The programmes also state the attributes that it offers to inculcate at the graduation level. The graduate attributes encompass values related to well-being, emotional stability, critical thinking, social justice and also skills for employability. In short, each programme prepares students for sustainability and life-long learning.

The new curriculum of B.A. (Programme) Political Science has been structured in a way that they introduce the student to the vast canvas of subjects that concern the discipline of political science. Beginning with a focus on concepts and theories which have been quintessential to the discipline, they move on to fleshing out how these concepts are translated into practice. The courses are not only structured to impart received knowledge but also encourage the student to think critically and raise questions which can contribute to a new understanding and explanation. In analysing specific issues and events, the curriculum does not lose sight of the broader issues and larger questions; thereby training the student to traverse these levels of analysis effortlessly while also remaining mindful of the linkages.

The University of Delhi hopes the LOCF approach of the programme B.A. (Programme) Political Science will help students in making an informed decision regarding the goals that they wish to pursue in further education and life, at large.
1. Introduction to Programme

The Choice-Based Credit System (CBCS) offers flexibility of programme structure while ensuring that students get a strong foundation in the subject and gain in-depth knowledge of all aspects of the field. The Learning Outcomes-Based Curriculum Framework (LOCF) is designed around the CBCS and is intended to suit the present day needs of students in terms of securing their path towards higher studies or employment.

Programme Duration:
The B.A. Programme in Political Science will be of three years’ duration. Each year will be called an academic year and will be divided into two semesters. Thus, there will be a total of six semesters. Each semester will consist of sixteen weeks.

Design of Programme:
The teaching-learning will involve theory classes (lectures) and tutorial classes. The curriculum will be delivered through various methods including chalk and talk, power point presentations, audio and video tools, E-learning/E-content, field trips, seminars (talks by experts), workshops, projects and class discussions. The assessment broadly will comprise of an Internal Assessment (continuous evaluation) and an End-Semester Examination. Each theory paper will be of 100 marks with 25% marks for the Internal Assessment and 75% marks for the End-Semester Examination. The Internal Assessment will be conducted through tests/ assignments/oral presentations/short projects.

Programme Structure:
The B.A. Programme in Political Science consists of Core Courses and Elective Courses. The Core Courses are all compulsory courses, and are of two categories : (1) Discipline-Specific Core Course (DSC) and (2) Foundation (English/MIL) Course. The Elective Courses are of three categories : (1) Discipline-Specific Elective (DSE) ; (2) Generic Elective (GE) which is inter-disciplinary in nature ; and (3) Skill Enhancement Course (SEC). In addition, there are two compulsory Ability Enhancement Courses (AECC).
To acquire a degree in the B.A. Programme in Political Science, a student must study twelve Core Courses (eight Discipline-Specific Core Courses, and four Foundation [English/MIL] courses), ten Elective Courses (four Discipline-Specific Electives, two Generic Electives, and four Skill Enhancement Courses), and two Ability Enhancement Compulsory Courses. If the student chooses to do so, he or she may write a dissertation or undertake a project in lieu of any one elective paper worth 6 credits in the sixth semester. Of the eight Discipline-Specific Core Courses, four would be from the discipline of Political Science, and the other four courses from the second discipline chosen by the student. Of the four Discipline-Specific Elective Courses, two would be from Political Science, and the other two from the second discipline chosen.

The Core Courses, Discipline-Specific Electives and Generic Electives all carry 6 credits each. Of these 6 credits, 5 credits are assigned to theory, and 1 credit to tutorials. The Skill Enhancement Courses and the Ability Enhancement Compulsory Courses carry two credits each. These latter two categories of courses have no tutorial component. A student has to earn a minimum of 120 credits to get a degree in the B.A. Programme in Political Science.

The student will study one Discipline-Specific Core Course from Political Science in each of Semesters I, II, III and IV. He or she will also study one Discipline-Specific Core Course from his or her second chosen discipline in each of these four semesters. One Foundation Course each will also be studied in Semesters I, II, III and IV. One Ability Enhancement Compulsory Course will be studied in Semester I, and the second such course in Semester II.

The student will study one Discipline-Specific Elective from Political Science each in Semesters V and VI, and also one Discipline-Specific Elective, from the second chosen discipline, each in these two semesters. One Generic Elective will also be studied in each of Semesters V and VI. One Skill Enhancement Course each will be studied in Semesters III, IV, V and VI.

2. Learning Outcome-based Curriculum Framework in Programme B.A. (Programme) Political Science
2.1. Nature and Extent of the Programme in B.A. (Programme) Political Science

The Learning Outcomes-Based Curriculum Framework (LOCF) for the B.A. Programme in Political Science is designed to afford a skeletal structure within which the programme can be developed to suit the need of the hour, in keeping with the emergence of new areas within Political Science. The framework allows for flexibility in programme design and course content development, and at the same time maintains a basic uniformity of structure, vis-a-vis other universities across the country. The B.A. Programme in Political Science aims to provide students with both a conceptual and a practical grasp of the discipline, and to encourage them to draw connections between Political Science and other social science disciplines by offering courses of an inter-disciplinary nature. The Core Courses offered by the programme are designed to equip the student with a robust foundation in Political Science, whereas the Discipline-Specific Electives are designed simultaneously around classically important areas of enquiry, and newly emergent ones. The Skill-Enhancement Courses acquaint the student with the applied aspects of this fascinating discipline, allowing him or her to use the skills learnt to solve problems that arise in the real world. The courses offered in this Programme, taken together, equip the student to pursue higher studies, and also to make his or her way outside academics – whether in the governmental or non-governmental sector.

2.2. Aims of Bachelor Degree Programme in B.A. (Programme) Political Science

The B.A. Programme in Political Science aims to provide students with both a conceptual and a practical grasp of the discipline, and to encourage them to draw connections between Political Science and other social science disciplines by offering courses of an inter-disciplinary nature. Students of the B.A. Programme in Political Science will have a comprehensive understanding of the fundamental concepts, theories and processes underlying this academic discipline, its different subfields (Political Theory, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Indian Political Thought, Public Administration and Indian Politics), and its linkages with other social science disciplines.

Students will be able to both choose and employ appropriate methods to conduct research, make political forecasts, and undertake political analysis of significant contemporary developments.

Students will be able to leverage their knowledge and skills to craft solutions to problems they encounter in the real world, which will allow them to take up work both within the academy and outside – in administration, politics, policy making, diplomacy and the courts. They will be equipped with both the procedural and substantive knowledge to evolve into professionals engaged with a wide range of issues – human rights, environment, gender justice, law, foreign policy and global relations – and will be well-placed to take up employment in these fields and to pursue a diverse range of work in both the state and non-state sectors, in the country and abroad.

Students will recognize and appreciate the importance of an education in Political Science, and the immense gamut of contexts in which such an education emerges as valuable and to which its lessons can be applied - academic, administrative, political, cultural, economic, legal and social.

3. Graduate Attributes in B.A. (Programme) Political Science

Some of the characteristic attributes of a graduate in the B.A. Programme in Political Science would be as follows :

- Knowledge of the Discipline: Foundational knowledge of Political Science and a thorough grasp of the theoretical and applied aspects of the discipline
- Inter-disciplinary Sensibility: Awareness of how training in Political Science helps illuminate aspects of other disciplines within the social sciences, and of the role and place of Political Science in inter-disciplinary research
- Critical Thinking: Capacity to evaluate evidence, arguments, claims, and beliefs with independence and originality, and to assess practices, policies and theories unhindered by the influence of schools of thought considered trendy or fashionable
• Problem-solving: Capacity to extrapolate from what one has learned and apply one’s competencies to solve unfamiliar problems, and to apply one’s learning to real-life situations

• Communication Skills: Ability to express thoughts and ideas effectively in writing and orally, to communicate with others using appropriate media and to confidently share one’s views and express oneself; the ability to listen carefully, and present complex information in a clear and concise manner to people from diverse backgrounds in diverse contexts

• Research-related Skills: A sense of inquiry and a capacity for asking relevant and appropriate questions and for problematizing; the ability to recognise cause-and-effect relationships, define problems, formulate hypotheses, test hypotheses, and analyse, interpret and draw conclusions from data; the ability to plan, design, and execute research and investigations and concisely report the results thereof

• Cooperation/Team Work: Ability to work effectively and respectfully with people from diverse backgrounds; capacity to cooperate with others and make a coordinated effort as part of a group, and work as a member of a team in the interests of a common cause

• Reflexive Thinking: Critical sensibility to lived experiences, and an awareness of how one’s position as a researcher/investigator shapes and impacts the knowledge one produces

• Information/digital Literacy: Capacity to use Information and Communications Technology (ICT) in a variety of learning situations; the ability to access, evaluate, and use a variety of information sources

• Multicultural Competence: An awareness pertaining to the values and beliefs of multiple cultures; a global and cosmopolitan perspective, and a capacity to effectively engage in a multicultural society and interact respectfully with diverse communities and groups

• Ethical Awareness: Capacity to identify ethical issues related to one’s work, and commit not to resort to unethical behaviour such as plagiarism, falsification of data, misrepresentation of facts, and the violation of intellectual property rights; capacity to appreciate the ethical nature of the current debates on the environment, development, social media, artificial intelligence, and so on; capacity to uphold truthfulness and integrity in all aspects of one’s research and one’s work.
4. Qualification Descriptors for Graduates B.A. (Programme)

Political Science

The qualification description for the B.A. Programme (Political Science) include:

- Demonstration of a coherent understanding of Political Science, its different areas and applications, and its linkages with related disciplinary areas/subjects; procedural and substantive knowledge that readies students for entering professions related to the subject - in teaching and research, development, social work, and government and public service.
- Effective use of knowledge and skills to identify problems, collect relevant data - quantitative and/or qualitative – using methods appropriate to the subject, analyse and evaluate the data, and formulate evidence-based arguments.
- Communication of the results of studies undertaken in an academic field in a range of different contexts, using the concepts, constructs and techniques of the discipline, in language that can be understood by people within and outside the academy.
- The initiative and capacity to meeting one’s own learning needs, drawing on a wide range of research and sources.
- Application of one’s disciplinary knowledge and transferable skills to new and unfamiliar contexts, rather than merely replicate curriculum content knowledge.
- Graduates in Political science have engaged in and pursued diverse career paths.

Some of these include:

- Academics
- Bureaucracy
- Social Work
- Law
- Journalism both print and visual
- Management
- Policy Making
- Designing and Conducting surveys
5. Programme Learning Outcomes for in B.A. (Programme) Political Science

Students of the B.A. Programme in Political Science will have a comprehensive understanding of the fundamental concepts, theories and processes underlying this academic discipline, its different subfields (Political Theory, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Indian Political Thought, Public Administration and Indian Politics), and its linkages with other social science disciplines.

Students will develop the capacity to undertake analytical and critical thinking vis-a-vis specific issues and problems in Political Science, as well as other related fields of study, including wider interdisciplinary ones.

Students will be able to both choose and employ appropriate methods to conduct research, make political forecasts, and undertake political analysis of significant contemporary developments.

Students will be able to leverage their knowledge and skills to craft solutions to problems they encounter in the real world, which will allow them to take up work both within the academy and outside – in administration, politics, policy making, diplomacy and the courts. They will be equipped with both the procedural and substantive knowledge to evolve into professionals engaged with a wide range of issues – human rights, environment, gender justice, law, foreign policy and global relations – and will be well-placed to take up employment in these fields and to pursue a diverse range of work in both the state and non-state sectors, in the country and abroad.
Students will recognize and appreciate the importance of an education in Political Science, and the immense gamut of contexts in which such an education emerges as valuable and to which its lessons can be applied - academic, administrative, political, cultural, economic, legal and social.

Teaching-Learning Process

The B.A. Programme in Political Science aims to make the student proficient in Political Science as well as in certain inter-disciplinary areas, through the transfer of knowledge in the classroom, and practical knowledge obtained through real-world interactions and field experiences. Classroom teaching will be undertaken through lectures, delivered through the medium of blackboard and chalk, charts, power point presentations, and the use of audio-visual resources (films, documentaries, and material from the internet) when deemed appropriate. An interactive mode of teaching will be used. The student will be encouraged to participate in discussions and make presentations on various topics. The emphasis will be on problem-solving and on the inculcation of analytical and critical capacities in the student. Theoretical analysis will go hand in hand with a stress on the practical; this will make for a fuller and more grounded understanding of concepts. Students will participate in field trips, workshops, and seminars; their association with governmental institutions and/or NGOs and/or research institutes in the capacity of interns will facilitate an understanding of the applied aspects of the programme, and further allow them to gain exposure to sites of possible future employment and work.

Assessment Methods

The assessment of student achievement in the B.A. Programme in Political Science will be aligned with the programme learning outcomes, and the academic and professional skills that the programme is designed to develop in students. A variety of assessment methods that are appropriate for the discipline of Political Science and related social science disciplines will be used. Learning outcomes will be assessed using the following: oral and written examinations, closed-book and open-book tests; problem-solving exercises; practical assignments involving short stints of fieldwork followed by the analysis of data, and the writing of a report with a statement of conclusions culled from the data; assignments involving critical analysis of an issue of political, social, cultural and economic significance; seminar and workshop presentations; and outputs from collaborative work undertaken by groups of students working as a team.

Teaching Learning Process
The paper titled - Administration and Public Policy: Concepts and Theories, in Programme (CBCS) B.A.(Prog.) Political Science, focus on introducing concepts and theories in the field of public administration and public policy to students. The classroom teaching is designed to equip students with the classical school of thought, theoretical engagement with meaning and scope of public administration, public policy and the politics of development administration. The pedagogy is construed with the idea that lectures delivered by teachers are comparative in tone wherein different perspectives are presented to students in each unit. The students will be mentored by teachers to unravel the theoretical impulse in the contextual socio-economic-political-cultural order. Simulation activities in the classroom is another useful tool in helping students make connections between real world scenarios and theoretical concepts. This encourages problem solving method within students.

Assessment Methods
This paper will assess the reflective and critical engagement of students with the theoretical concept while comprehending its relevance in today’s scenario. To test this, this paper offers to internally assess students through visual or oratory presentation, group discussion, critical engagement with concepts and theories. End semester written examination will also be used as an assessment tool.

Teaching Learning Process
Students will be taught different forms of sampling methods and will receive training in conducting surveys. They will be given interactive lectures on measuring public opinion and will be taught quantitative methods and imparted with basic skills of collection, verification and analysis of data.

Suggested Student Exercises:
1. Discussion of readings and Indian examples. Groups of students to collect examples of and discuss various sample based studies across many fields: e.g. consumer behaviour, unemployment rates, educational standards, elections, medicinal trials etc.
2. Non-random sampling: The students have to identify one group of people or behaviour that is unique or rare and for which snowball sampling might be needed. They have to identify how they might make the initial contact with this group to start snowball rolling.
3. Give the students the electoral list of an area in Delhi (http://ceodelhi.gov.in). The students have to draw a random sample of n number of respondents.
4. For this activity, working with a partner will be helpful. The class should first decide on a topic of interest. Then each pair should construct a five-item self report questionnaire. Of the five items, there should be at least one nominal response, one ordinal response and one interval. After the common questionnaire is constructed putting together the questions from everyone, working in pairs, the questionnaire should be administered on different individuals.
5. Give the students a questionnaire from any public opinion survey and ask them to identify the type of variables.

Assessment Methods
Students will be assessed on continuous basis followed by end term examination. Internal assessment will be conducted at the end of each unit which may include term papers, assignments, projects and viva- voce. They will be assessed on the basis of their ability to critically apply their conceptual understanding to the field work. They will be required to submit project report on any one unit of the syllabus before end term examination.
Course Objective
More often than not, when we talk of laws we mean authoritatively sanctioned rules, which are considered essential for a well-ordered society. Yet laws in a democracy are also about constituting a society marked by equality, freedom, and dignity. The rights approach to law has assumed importance in democracies, precisely because of people’s struggles to broaden the understanding of law as something which reflects the will of the people. As such law becomes an important source of rights and duties, which develop and strengthen alongside institutions of representative democracy, constitutional norms, and the rule of law. This course aims to help the students understand law as a source of rights, and as a progressively widening sphere of justice, welfare, and dignity. This relationship between laws and rights will be studied through specific values which have come to be seen as integral for a democratic society viz., equality and non-discrimination, empowerment, redistribution and recognition of traditional rights etc.

Course Learning Outcomes
On the successful completion of the course, students would be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of law as a source of right.
- Develop an understanding of democratic values such as equality, justice etc. and learn about different laws enacted to uphold these value.
- Demonstrate an awareness of democratic rights guaranteed to Indian citizens and persons
- Develop skills related to using ordinary legal procedures to safeguard the rights guaranteed to citizens and persons
- Show basic awareness of ordinary procedures such as obtaining different kinds of identity documents.
- Show understanding of the structure and principles of the Indian legal system
